“ Momma Bobbie was the sweetest lady you could ever meet, she never met a stranger she was always so kind loving and giving. We had many nights up talking through storms and long talks on the phone she even wanted her hair cut like mine so we cut it. She was full of southern hospitality bringing you coffee or offering you something when you came to visit. The best memory I will have is her hugging and kissing me telling me even though she wasn't my real momma she was still my momma. This world lost an amazing soul. Momma Bobbie my you rest peacefully until we meet again momma Bobbie you'll remain In my heart and I'll forever love you.
