“ I met Van when he was in a band playing on Old National Hwy. I fell in love with him the first time I heard him sing. I followed that man all over old national til finally he gave in to me and we we're in love for a short time. Those were the days that I had my rock star. He would sing to me and just melt my heart. I fell in love with his children also . Robbie was that beautiful young lady that stole my heart as well. Lil Van was my lil man. God those were the good old days. We went out separate ways years later but I never lost my love for him. I had the Honor of seeing him a few years ago and would have picked up where we left off so many years ago but it just wasn't meant to be.. Van I know you are singing with the angels now. Oh what a beautiful voice he had. Go find my Mom and you and her sing some songs together cause she loved you as well. Til we meet again my "Rock Star" love you more than you ever knew... Tracy New “ Van was a good friend with me back in the 70s. He was the lead singer and played guitar in my first rock band I had. He and I were good friends during that period and we had a small group of friends that hung out together at the old 7/11 on Flint River Rd. We rented a storage space in Forest Park where we set up our instruments to practice there. Later in life, I found my way into an Apostolic Pentecostal church in Jonesboro, and met Van's aunt, Sister Barbara Palmer. I would ask about Van all the time when I saw Sis Palmer at church. Van was a good guy. I used to see him back in the early 2000s on jobs when he worked for a man named Buddy Mann doing trim work. We would talk some. Those were the last times I actually saw Van. Once, a couple of years ago, I attended Sis Montgomery's church since our church was shut down due to covid, and I asked Alice, his sister about him. I have prayed for Van throughout the years since getting into the church myself. I am saddened to hear of his passing. He will be missed.
