Such a fighter . such a strong faith. Such a busy guy. I'll miss seeing him run around like a young buck mowing the grass or putting the golf club to keep busy. This really hurts my heart. Such a great soul.

“ Mark was the best big brother a guy could have. We were Navy brats and grew up in many places around the US and the world. Being the new kid in town is tough, but I always had my brother Mark as a friend anywhere I went. Mark always had my back, and Mark always stuck up for me. One time we were playing basketball in gym and I wasn't very good, but wanted to play. Some big kid took the ball from me and told me not to shoot anymore. Mark then took the ball from that big kid, gave it back to me, and told that big kid that I was gonna shoot anytime I wanted to. That big kid saw Mark's fierceness and he backed down right away. He never messed with me again. I always admired Mark for his honesty and commitment. His moral compass always pointed in the right direction, and I mean always.

Tony I never got to meet you. We really loved Mark. Rest of family hates me but Mark always treated us with respect. We loved him & are shocked & saddened that he's gone. Please give our condolences to your mom. Losing a child is worst pain parents can feel & two is just horrific. We're so heart broken & sorry for your loss.

“ Mark and I were best friends in High School. We along with his brothers Mike and Tony would go to Pete's pool room every Friday and Saturday night and rent two tables until closing. We double dated together until he joined the Navy. One day on the way to Gordon Jr. College, I passed the same log truck three times, once on the shoulder, once going the opposite direction, and finally on the left. I had never seen someone laugh so much, we both laughed all the way to school. We hung out together a lot over the years. The last time I saw him was last October at Brandy's Birthday Party. Every time we got together it was like we had just seen each other yesterday. I guess this just comes natural with life long friends. Rest in Peace Mark, You will be missed.
